BYTEHACKS

ByteHacks is an all-female hackathon where 200+ high school and college students of all skillsets and backgrounds come to NYC and work on tech projects that have positive social impact. For 24 hours on September 1st and 2nd, participants will work on their projects and experience workshops, tech talks, mentors, sponsors, and prizes! The event will take place at Thoughtworks NYC.

Sponsoring a hackathon is a great way to expose your brand to new customers, test your product and expand your user base, find talented hires, and create the next generation of tech innovators.
